

Washington, DC - Congressman John Adler and his son will join more than two hundred local troops tomorrow on Thanksgiving Day. For the fourth consecutive year, Congressman Adler will attend the event and pay tribute to the men and women who serve our country.

"I look forward to sharing this Thanksgiving meal with the brave men and women who serve our country," Congressman Adler said. "Many of them are far from home and family, and I am proud to join them and thank each service member for their dedication and sacrifice. Our service members risk their lives to protect our families and communities every day. I hope all Americans will offer a prayer of thanks to our veterans, our men and women in uniform, and their families."

Every year, local families, veterans groups, and small business owners host a Thanksgiving Day meal for troops in the area. This year, 275 soldiers from Fort Dix will be in attendance at America's Best Value Inn Ballroom on Rt.70 at 11:30 am. Hundreds of local residents greet the soldiers and join them for a Thanksgiving Day meal.
